WUVC UNIVISION 40 TO HOLD "UNIRUMBA 2013" ENTERTAINMENT FESTIVAL ON SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

(RALEIGH, NC, SEPTEMBER 3, 2013) - WUVC Univision 40, North Carolina's only Spanish-language broadcast TV station, today announced that it will hold "UniRumba 2013," the first entertainment festival celebrating 10 years of being in the Raleigh-Durham-Fayetteville market in partnership with International Foods. The event will also celebrate Mexico and Central America's independence and will feature local artists in addition to companies that are looking to reach the local Hispanic community. Representatives from local schools, agencies and various institutions will also be in attendance to share useful information and resources with attendees.

UniRumba will take place on Sunday, September 15, 2013 at International Foods in the Villa Latina shopping center located at 421 Chapanoke Rd. in Raleigh from 12:00PM-5:00PM.

La Fiesta de El Pueblo: Celebration, Information, and Action!

This Sunday, September 8th, you can't miss the largest Latin American festival in the Triangle: La Fiesta del Pueblo. We'll be celebrating our 20th anniversary with diverse Latin music like Salsa, Duranguense, Latin Funk, Banda, Mariachi, and to finish the night with a golden touch, we'll enjoy the Merengue of Raúl Acosta and Oro Solido, brought directly from New York City. The celebration will include an traditional arts & crafts market, art exhibit, folkloric dancing, and delicious Latin American food.
